

EMERGENCIES

Even under emergency conditions, it is our responsibility to provide our citizens with vital services. Some employees within the City operation are designated as “alpha employees.” If you are designated as an “alpha employee,” it is your responsibility to report for work should you be instructed to do so. This obligation is a condition of your employment.

Based on the nature of the emergency, all employees within the City have the potential to be designated as Alpha. If you have any questions regarding the designation of your position as “essential personnel,” please ask your supervisor.
