Technology recycling with Goodwill*

- Electronic waste is one of the fastest growing waste problems in the world.
- Each year over 400 million tons of obsolete electronics are scrapped.
- 250 million computers will become obsolete in the next 5 years.
- Computers and related equipment can deposit unwanted hazardous materials in our landfills.
- Goodwill and Dell have partnered to form the RECONNECT Program, keeping your information safe and hazardous materials out of our landfills.
- In 2013, Goodwill serving Hampton Roads & Central Virginia kept over 1.4 million pounds of computers and related waste out of Virginia landfills.

We have the answer to your electronic data destruction and environmental responsibility needs
- and it's all FREE!

A Winning Partnership

- You can conveniently drop your used computer equipment at any of our Goodwill retail stores or Attended Donation Centers! All equipment is sent back to our main facility for prompt and secure processing.
- Large donation? No problem! Transportation to and from your site is provided at no charge.
- Equipment, such as computer hard drives that store data, is held in secure areas until processing.
- Hard drives that meet resale requirements will be wiped in accordance with Department of Defense 5220.22-M standards. Those hard drives and equipment that do not meet resale standards will be destroyed and raw materials recycled.
- No technology or equipment that is donated goes to landfills.
- Funds generated through the resale of computers and equipment are used to support employment training and programs right here in our community.
- Because Goodwill is a 501(c)3 charitable organization, your donation of technology is tax deductible, in most cases.
